CARE
Become a wildlife rehabilitator.

Provide care for injured & orphaned wildlife at different stages of development & what suits your situation.

RESCUE & TRANSPORT
Help wildlife get where it needs to go.

Pick up & transport wildlife, assist with vet drop offs, transfers & returning wildlife to their original location.

RELEASE
Give wildlife somewhere safe to return to the wild.

Offer your property to help with release planning & support post-release monitioring when appropriate.

MAKE
Put your practical skills to work.

Sew, build, repair or create equipment, enclosures & other items that support wildlife care

GIVE
Help make wildlife rehabilitation possible.

Donate, sponsor training, support projects or explore partnership opportunities.

OFFER YOUR SKILLS
Your expertise could make a real difference.

Administration, communications, design, IT legal, fundraising, trades & much more.

Found wildlife that needs help?

Here's what to do.

1 Keep yourself safe.
Never put yourself or others at risk.

2 If safe, contain the animal.
Keep the animal contained & comfortable.

3 Keep them warm, dark & quiet.
Reducing noise, light & handling will increase their chances of survival.

4 Do NOT offer food or water.
Incorrectly offering food or water can make a bad situation worse.

You never know when you'll be the person who comes across wildlife needing help.

Found a dead marsupial?

If it is safe to do so, check whether there may be a joey in the pouch or nearby. If you're unsure what to do, contact Bonorong Wildlife Rescue on 0447 264 625

TIP!

Never pull a baby animal off its mother's teat if it's still attached in the pouch.

Instead, wrap up the mother with the baby still in pouch & transport to your nearest vet or wildlife rehabilitator.
